

REVIVAL OF CLASSIC GREEK

Western Newspaper Welcomes Possibility of Its Becoming, in Time, a World Language.

Were one to judge from the fuss made from time to time, one would suppose there was real need of an international language. In the golden age of the English language the great queen addressed the ambassador at her court in Latin, and all diplomatic conversation and correspondence of Europe was in Latin. Erasmus, the great scholar and writer, who visited the court of Elizabeth's father, Henry VIII, wrote Latin works that produced an effect comparable to that produced by the writings of Voltaire two centuries later.

Much pains have been expended in fabricating artificial language, such as Esperanto, to serve as the medium of communication. But such constructions have no chance of practical adoption, nor could they answer as well as actual language whether dead like Latin or living like English.

There is a language, however, which is gradually becoming again a living one, and which as a world language would be ideal. The Greek universities and Greek men of culture, including Venizelos himself, are engaged in an attempt to restore classical purity and perfection to modern Greek. It is said that the endeavor is by no means vain, and that gradually the ancient model is being approached. We may yet have the speech of Pericles, the written language of Plato, employed in social intercourse and commercial transactions, in contracts, in courts of law, in houses of assembly.—Minneapolis Journal.

ALWAYS A WELCOME VISITOR

Occasionally Late, but Once Every Month She Was at the Door to Receive Him.

She waited patiently for his arrival, feeling that he wouldn't disappoint her. Sometimes he was a little early—sometimes a little late, but eventually he would come, bringing with him something dear to her heart.

Once every month for four years he had been a welcome visitor. How well she knew his voice—his smile—his cheery whistle!

At times when he passed the house without as much as a glance, she understood and made no effort to attract his attention. If he appeared distant now and then, she did not grieve, knowing the day would come—a week, two weeks perhaps—when he would walk fearlessly up the walk with a smile and a cheery word of greeting.

After today she would never look for him again. At least his appearance would never again cause the delightful little heart throbs that were now agitating her.

At last she saw him. Her arms were outstretched to receive—the last War Risk Bureau allotment check, which the postman handed to her with a smile.—The Leatherneck

Obesity Undesirable.

Are you fat? Be on your guard if you are. Doctor Joslin of Boston has gathered striking statistics that show an undeniable association of obesity and diabetes, the condition in which sugar, the most common of food fuels, is not properly metabolized or stored in the body. There are in this country alone more than half a million diabetics. "The penalty of taking too much alcohol is well known, and a drunkard is looked upon with pity or contempt," says Doctor Joslin. "Rarely, persons who become fat deserve pity, because of a real tendency to put on weight despite moderate eating, but most of them should be placed in some of the same category as the alcoholic. In 99 cases out of 1,000 being fat implies too much food or too little exercise, or both combined."—Science Service.

Stone Mountain.

Stone Mountain, on whose granite wall is to be sculptured a memorial to the Confederacy, is 16 miles from Atlanta, Ga. It will be the largest monument in the world. The space covered will be about eight hundred feet high and fifteen hundred feet wide.

The project first attracted attention in 1915, when Mrs. C. Helen Plume, then eighty-eight years of age, a leader of Southern women, sent for Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, to come to Georgia, to consider the feasibility of a great sculptural monument to the Confederacy on the wall of the mountain. Mr. Borglum made a careful study of several plans. The plan adopted represents an army marching into battle. It will comprise portraits of all the Confederate leaders.

Bulgarians Reduce Alphabet.

Simplification of the Bulgarian orthography by eliminating three letters of the alphabet, recently ordered by the cabinet council, has just been put into effect. The censorship, still existing here, will enforce the new spelling in all publications.

These three letters are remnants of the old Slav tongue. They do not exist in the Serbian language and they recently were ordered stricken from the Russian alphabet by the soviet ministry of public instruction. Their principal spelling is taken in some quarters to be an effort toward closer relations with the Serbs.

DR. ROBERT J. FORMAD

From a poor immigrant youth who arrived in America from Russia in 1883, Dr. Robert J. Formad has become one of the country's foremost pathologists. His first position was as assistant in the University of Pennsylvania with a salary of $100 a year while he was working his way through school. He is now recognized as the leading pathologist in the Department of Agriculture, being an expert on rabid animals.

INTERLACHEN NEWS

St. Andrews Episcopal church, which has been closed since the early spring, was opened for the season last Sunday morning, Rev. John London of St. Augustine conducting the service. There will be a regular morning service in the little chapel.

once each month hereafter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Corthell and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Corthell arrived last week from their various New England homes and it is very pleasant to have them with us again. Miss Katherine Heini, who has been enjoying the summer months among the mountains of Colorado, has returned to Florida, and was a guest of Miss Achsah Motes last week.

Mrs. J. T. Jenkins who has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Osteen, in Fort Mende for the past year, and is returning from a visit to Jacksonville, stopped off here Monday, and will remain for a while with her old friends and neighbors, before completing her journey southward.

The ladies of the Sunshine Society held a very pleasant session Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Leonard.

Mr. and Mrs. William Durst of Gainesville met with a serious accident Saturday night, just in the outskirts of town. They were returning home from a trip down the east coast, driving a big Buick car, which for some unaccountable reason, swerved from the highway and crashed into an oak tree. Mrs. Durst was thrown from the car, and was terribly cut about the face, and severely bruised and shaken up. Mr. Durst escaped with no more serious hurt than a number of bruises, but Mrs. Durst's condition became critical from loss of blood before medical aid could be procured. The unfortunate couple were taken to the Lambert home, and Dr. Brantley soon arrived and attended to their hurts. They remained with the Lamberts until Sunday afternoon, when they were able to go on to their home in Gainesville.

Thanksgiving

We are thankful today for the continued blessings of God through another year. Seed time and harvest have not failed and storehouses are filled with good things. The results of war are being adjusted and conditions point to a bright era of peace and prosperity.

We are also thankful for the increasing prosperity of this store through the people of Putnam County and expect to show our appreciation by renewed efforts to give the BEST SHOES that can be had for the money.

HICKENLOOPER'S

Joint Accounts

A husband and wife or others whose interests are in common, often find it convenient to have a "joint" account. Such an account is opened in two names, and is payable to either person. In case of death of one, the account is held subject to the order of the survivor without the necessity of any legal formality. We will be glad to give further information to those interested in the subject of a joint account.
